

Speaker:

Sami Niinimäki is a senior advisor at the Department of Higher Education and Science Policy within the Ministry of Education and Culture in Finland.

His duties revolve around open science and e-infrastructure of higher education institutes. Niinimäki has a background in environmental and forest economics. Prior to joining the ministry he worked at the Finnish Forest Research Institute and the University of Helsinki.